In the helps below "Parse" means break the word into its grammatical categories. If it's an adjective, noun, or pronoun this means it has CASE, NUMBER, and GENDER. If it's a verb this means it has PERSON AND NUMBER (unless the verb is infinitive), TENSE AND VOICE (all present and active so far), and MOOD (indicative, imperative or infinitive). Conjunctions are absolute, that is, they do not parse.

"Lexical form" means the form you memorize in the vocabulary, that is, the form you'll find it in when you look it up in your Wheelock glossary or a dictionary. That means the NOMINATIVE AND GENITIVE forms for a noun, the MASC/FEM/NEUT forms for an adjective, and all the PRINCIPAL PARTS for a verb.

"Usage" means how the word functions in a sentence. Remember that adjectives MODIFY NOUNS AND PRONOUNS; nouns can be SUBJECT, DIRECT OBJECT, INDIRECT OBJECT, OBJECT OF PREPOSITION, etc. Verbs can be MAIN VERBS, or verbs in SUBORDINATE clauses. Infinitives can be OBJECTIVE or COMPLEMENTARY. We'll be working a lot on this usage category, and the others as well, as the term progresses.

I've filled out information on one sentence in your translation assignment to give you some help; feel free to use the rest of this as a help for your own work. BONAM FORTUNAM!
